No mutual availability

1. Open up more availability on your calendar.
2. Open up availability on your colleagues' calendars if they are also in the meeting.
3. You only need one required participant per meeting, consider making others optional participants where possible.
4. Reply to see if the other company's participants can open more time on their calendars.

→ This meeting will not be scheduled until the system can find mutual availability among required participants.

Guest Access

Invite a guest to help manage your BIO Partnering account.

In the Preferences section of your Delegate profile, add the email address of your guest.

Once added, they will log in with their email address and receive MFA verification codes to their email, but they will work as you in BIO Partnering.

The screenshot shows a settings panel with two main sections: 'Profile settings' and 'Guest settings'. In the 'Profile settings' section, there is a toggle switch for 'Profile visible on platform' which is currently turned on. The 'Guest settings' section contains a label 'Email address(es)' above a text input field. The input field contains the email address 'rlowry@bio.org'. To the right of the input field is a 'Send' button.

→ Guest access does not register the person for the conference. To attend the conference and participate in meetings your colleague must register with Bio Taiwan.

Partnering Best Practices

Prepare your profile

Add as much information as possible to help other companies find you, so you can get the right requests. Add assets, services, market products when applicable. Select specific TAs and MOAs.

Start early

Begin now to allow others time to respond. Target the most relevant prospects using Advanced Search filters.

Tailor each meeting request

Be specific about why you are reaching out to a company based on their profile.

Follow up

Getting close to the conference but no response? Write a “reply only” message to the company.

Max out your requests

Use all 150 meeting requests available to your company.

The screenshot shows a user profile for 'XYZ Solutions' on a professional networking platform. The profile is set to 'Profile Visible'. The header includes the company name, 'CMO, CRO +3', and location 'Private Frederick, Maryland • United States', with an 'edit profile' button. The main content is divided into two columns. The left column contains sections for 'Brief Description' (a CDMO offering end-to-end services), 'Description' (a USFDA-inspected contract development and manufacturing organization), 'Keywords' (Manufacturing, Molecule Diagnostics), 'Financials' (Ownership: Private, Year founded: 2004, Number of Employees: 200 to 1,000), 'Company's Conference Objectives' (interested in meeting biotech companies), 'Therapeutic Areas of Interest' (Primary TA: Autoimmune disease, Immune disorder, Cardiovascular disease, Cancer), and 'Geographic Areas of Interest' (Australia, Asia, Europe, North America). The right column contains sections for 'Assets, Services & Market Products' and 'Leadership & Delegates'. Under 'Assets, Services & Market Products', there are lists for 'Assets (0)', 'Services Offered (0)' (Clinical trials, Biologics, Small Molecule, Commercial Manufacturing, APIs, Process Design/Development, Commercial Manufacturing, Antibody Solutions, XYZ Gentiest Discovery Platform), and 'Market Products (0)'. A 'Show less' button is visible at the bottom right of the services list.

No mutual availability

1. Open up more availability on your calendar.
2. Open up availability on your colleagues' calendars if they are also in the meeting.
3. You only need one required participant per meeting, consider making others optional participants where possible.
4. Reply to see if the other company's participants can open more time on their calendars.

→ This meeting will not be scheduled until the system can find mutual availability among required participants.
